A STRONG FINISH

The Portsmouth High School football season for 1924 is over and while the boys met with some unfortunate reverses which prevented them from making the record they hoped to attain at the opening of the season, they ended in a blaze of glory on Saturday when they outplayed the strong Biddeford High team, considered one of the best schoolboy elevens in Maine, in every department of the game and defeated them 6 to 0. It was a great finish and the players deserve credit for the manner in which they have fought through the season after losing a number of their best men through injuries. Looked upon at the outset of the season as state championship timber, injuries held back the team and caused the loss of some of the important games, but nevertheless, the boys, with all hopes of a championship gone, showed the true spirit of sportsmanship by playing all the harder in the closing game on the schedule and made a wonderful showing against their two big rivals, holding Concord to a scoreless tie and defeating Biddeford.

MOTORMAN POSED AS RICH FARMER

Hampton Man Charged With Obtaining $3345 From Fiancee's Mother

Hampton, Nov. 24.—William A. Guilford, a motorman on the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Street Railway, was arraigned in Municipal Court Saturday charged with obtaining $3345 from Mrs. Rachel Carll under false pretences. He waived examination and was held in $1500 for the January grand jury.

Guilford, it is alleged, became engaged to the daughter of Mrs. Carll after the family came here from western Massachusetts. He claimed that he was the owner of a large farm in Vermont, it is said. The money, which was obtained in installments, was to aid in carrying on a teaming contract that Guilford claimed to have with the Vermont Highway Commission.

When the wedding bells failed to ring this fall the family began to check up and found that there was no such farm as Guilford purported to own. He was arrested in Exeter by Chief Baker.

CATCH KORETZ IN HALIFAX

World-Wide Search for Alleged Chicago Swindler is Ended

(By Associated Press)

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 24—Leo Koretz, alleged $2,000,000 land fraud swindler of Chicago, for whom a world wide search has been coducted for more than a year, and for whom a reward of $10,000 has been offered, was in the hands of the law today. He has waived extradition and will be taken back to Chicago. He had been known here as Lou Keyte. According to the police Koretz stole away from Chicago with the loot of a gigantic mail fraud in a hand satchel. Among those whom he was said to have defrauded were many whose entire life savings were represented by their "investment" in his scheme. Even his wife was ignorant of what had become of him, police say and was left impoverished by his disappearance. He had been invited to deliver a sermon in the near future. When he was arrested in a hotel here last night he at first seemed stunned by the realization that he had been discovered.

Eight Men Arrested After Second Raid on Beverly Wine Cellar

(By Associated Press)

Beverly, Mass., Nov. 24—The wine celler of the estate of Joseph Leiter of Chicago where $50,000 worth of liquor was taken Saturday,, was raided again early today of the $10,000 worth remaining and the eight men involved were arrested with the load by local police only to overpower Patrolman James Dolliver later and escape in the police automobile. They left the liquor behind with the truck which apparently identified them as being from the North End district of Boston.

EGYPTIAN CABINET QUIT THIS MORNING

Situation Acute in Consequence of Great Britain's Demands -- English Troops Occupy Alexandria Customs

(By Associated Press)

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 24—Lord Allenby, the British high commissioner, at noon today informed the Egyptian Premier, Zagloul Pasha, that instructions had been given for British forces to occupy the Alexandria customs. This, he said, was the firsrt measure to be taken in consequence of Egypt's non-acceptance of all the British demands, following the assasination of Sir Leo Stack, the firdar. The indemity of 500,000 pounds demanded by the British for the death of the firdar was paid by the Egyptian government at 11.45 this morning. The payment was accompanied by a note protesting against the British demands for the evacuation of the Sudan by Egyptian troops and for the withdrawal of all opposition to the wishes of the British government concerning the protection of foreign interests in Egypt, which demands the note characterized as unjustifiable.

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 24—The Egyptian cabinet headed by Zagloul Pasha tendered its resignation today to King Fuad, who accepted it. The king summoned Ziwar Pasha president of the Senate, who coonsented to form a new cabinet.

London, Nov. 24—That the Egyptian crises has been greatly eased by the resignation of Premier Zagloul Pasha is the view understood to have prevailed at an hour and a half session of the cabinet called this noon to consider the Egyptian reply to the British demands. The announcement of the resignation, which was read during the cabinet meeting, may, it is said, influence the British government action although it is understood the cabinet will reiterate Field Marshal Lord Allenby's statement to the Egyptian government that Great Britain will proceed to carry out the demands not granted by Egypt.

CITY OF BERLIN IS ISOLATED

B. & M. Railroad Undermined--Houses Cut Off From Outside World--100 Foot of Iron Bridge Torn Away By Heavy Rainfall

(By Associated Press)

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 24—Heavy rain of Saturday night, brought streams in this locality to flood point due probably to frozen ground and the fact that there was considerable snow on the mountains. No damage was reported. Heavy wind prevailed doing a great deal of damage to telephone and electric lighting companies.

Colebrook Nov. 24—The flood waters of the Mohawk river, a subsidiary of the Connecticut, which yesterday interrupted railroad communication here and caused heavy damage in and about the village of Colebrook, which was inundated, were subsiding today. It was expected that transportation lines would be in operation again late today. The Maine Central railroad, whose line was cut by several washouts had a steam shovel and bridge crews at work early today repairing the damage. A survey of the flood's ravages in the district indicated that the loss would be heavy on roads washed away, walls undermined and buildings weakened. Cellars were flooded in Colebrook and several families driven from their homes.

On Sunday night the city of Berlin was isolated owing to the heavy rains on Saturday night and Sunday forenoon. Train service was tied up and highway passage impossible.

Main highways out of the city in the direction of Portland, Me., Errol and Milan were all day under deep water and washed away in several places, so that attempts to go through were too dangerous to make.

The Boston and Maine railroad from Berlin to Gorham is practically undermined the entire distance with no part of the road safe and in several places completely washed away for a distance of four or five feet.

The Y. M. C. A. athletic field, on which the city depends for staging all its big outdoor contests, is in ruins. This field is the product of three years of hard work, including the filling in of a small valley.

The Androscoggin river is responsible for the Boston and Maine washouts. At Cascade, a station two miles out of Berlin on the Grand Trunk line, a washout Sunday held up traffic all day, so that a train due to leave for Portland, Me., at 8 o'clock a. m. did not attempt the journey until a big repair crew had worked until 2.30 Sunday afternoon. This washout is the result of surface water off the nearby hills.

The funeral services of Mrs. Joseph Wagner had to be postponed, due to the impossibility of reaching the cemetery.

In the city scores of cellars are flooded and streets standing in water, with several cases of bad washouts. The log pond at the paper mills has flooded, and at 7 street, at the mills the sidewalk and highway are under three feet of water. This caused the postponement of the funeral.

Three Portland, Me., policemen returning from a hunting trip, are anchored here unable to get their car beyond a certain point in any direction.

On the Gorham highway several houses were completely cut off from the outside world except by telephone and by boat in a few cases. Moose river at the Ten Corners has outgrown all bounds and has torn away one end of the 100-foot iron bridge that crosses at this point.

The street railway, four miles out of this city, on the same highway, was under water, and in several places washed away.

STATE HIGHWAY BADLY DAMAGED

(By Associated Press)

Concord, Nov. 24—The state highway department received reports at noon today indicating that the floods of Sunday washed out 200 feet of state highway in Crawford Notch and rendered the highway impassible. A report that a bad washout had been discovered on Spruce Hill, Pinkham Notch, and that a new bridge was threatened in the town of Columbia were also received.

COTTON MILL WAGES CUT

(By Associated Press)

Portland Nov. 24—A readjustment of wages in the cotton mills of Maine went into effect today with a reduction of 10 per cent. Approximately 13,000 employes in mills in Biddeford, Saco, Lewiston, Augusta, Waterville, Westbrook and Brunswick were affected. The previous change in wages was in April, 1923, when a 12 1-2 per cent increase was given.

CRUSHED IN AUTO CRASH

(By Associated Press)

Greenfield, Mass., Nov. 24—Anthony Grabosky of Springfield was arraigned here today charged with driving in a manner to endanger lives as the result of an accident in Sunderland last night in which Michael Grinzea of Springfield was crushed to death when the car was overturned. Walter Dybrizski of Springfield suffered serious injuries and a fourth man was slightly hurt. Grabosky was taken to jail to await trial.

THE CONNECTICUT IS STILL RISING

(By Associated Press)

Woodsville, Nov. 24—The Connecticut river, swollen to freshet stage by the rains of Saturday, was still rising today and had reached ten feet above its normal level. Snow was falling and it was believed that the cold would soon check the rise of the Connecticut and other northern rivers. The railroads were endeavoring today to repair the heavy damage caused by the floods throughout New Hampshire.

CAPTAIN KILLED AS SCHOONERS CRASH IN FOG

(By Associated Press)

New York, Nov. 24—Capt. A. J. Wilson of Fairhaven Mass., master of the schooner Perry Setzer, was instantly killed Saturday morning when his vessel was rammed and virtually cut in two by an unidentified steamer in a fog off Cape Hatteras, according to information brought here by the United Fruit liner Calamares from Cuba. The eight members of the crew of the Perry Setzer, after hanging to the rigging of the almost submerged schooner, were rescued by the oil tanker Solace, 12 hours after the collision, it was reported.

WRECKING CREWS ARE BUSY TODAY

(By Associated Press)

Concord, Nov. 24—Wrecking crews were covering the tracks of the Boston & Maine the Grank Trunk and the Maine Central railroads in the North Country today, repairing damage caused by the floods of yesterday which washed out the tracks in the Berlin and Colebrook sections. Overflowed rivers had receded today leaving in their wake scores of washouts. Train schedules were expected to be resumed tomorrow. Property damage was heavy.

WINANT TAKING BRIEF REST

Concord Nov. 24—Governor-elect John G. Winant has gone to Bermuda for a few weeks rest preparatory to taking up the duties of the governorships, always arduous in the early days of a state administration, while the ne executive is getting accustomed to the requirements of the job.

Just at present he has been giving more attention to the financial problems that will have to be met than to the other phases of legislation. The governor-elect has been giving particular study to the situation left by the Supreme coure decision declaring the 1919 inheritance tax law unconstitutional and the not improbable contingency that the same tribunal will make a simil r ruling as to the 1923 inheritance tax law before the Legislature meets in January.

In any event the state has collected several hundred thousand dollars more than it had a legal right to take, according to the finding of the Supreme court, with likelihood the amount will be materially increased. Governor-elect Winant during the campaign declared he believed the state is under moral obligation to return the money thus collected whatever the legal obligation may be. He still holds to that view, friends who have discussed the matter with him since election say, and intends to bring the matter to the attention of the Legislature in his inaugural address.

It is reasonable to expect that he will do the same in the cases of those who have overpaid their legacy taxes under the provisions of the 1923 law, which is now in operation, although the general belief of state officials is that the court will rule that the present law is unsound constitutionally. The inheritance tax department has no alternative to operating under the last word of the legislature until the court has ruled the law outside the Legislature's jurisdiction.

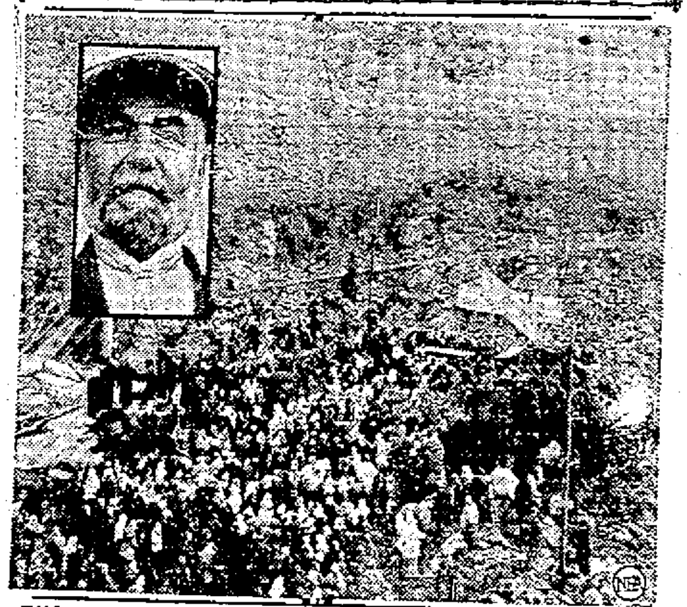
Recently Governor-elect Winant invited a number of friends conoversant with the state's financial affairs to meet him in conference on the situation that has developed. Those present included former Gov. Albert O. Brown of Manchester, Congressman-elect Fletcher Hale, now secretary of the state tax commission; former State Treasurer J. Wesley Plummer, John W. Pearson of Concord and John R. McLane of Manchester.

At that conference the financial conditions of the state were gone over with great care and suggestions how best to handle the situation with the state's welfare always the first consideration were made. The governor-elect without doubt will break in on his vacation to a large extent in going over these suggestions. He has been diligently at work familiarizing himself with the various state departments and institutions over which he will have supervisory control with the executive council. Detailed information which he has collected from the heads of the departments and institutions dealing with the income, the outgo and the needs of each will also be taken along on the Bermudan trip to be studied in preparation for work on his inaugural when he returns to Concord next month. It is not unlikely that drafts of portions of the address to the Legislature will be made while the governor-elect is away.

Since the election Capt. Winant has been in New York and Boston in consultation with men experienced in state budgeting relative to the New Hampshire financial situation, and has obtained much valuable information to be used when he takes over the duties of the governorship in January.

An interesting incident of the Boston trip was a visit with Frank Stearns, the close friend of President Coolidge. Five years ago Mr. Stearns presented to Governor-elect Winant a volume of Calvin Coolidge's speeches. It was the reading of these speeches that gave the governor-elect his first real conception of the breadth of character and great ability of Coolidge, indication of which was given frequently by references to the public utterances of the President in the course of the last campaign. Mr. Stearns gave Captain Winant a volume of the President's later addresses to place beside the earlier volume in his library, but the book was packed away in the luggage for the Bermuda trip for casual and particular reading, and will not reach the destined place on the library shelf for a few weeks at least.

DOUKHOBOR CHIEF BURIED IN ROCK



THE GRAVE OF PETER VERIGIN, BRITISH COLUMBIA DOUKHOBOR LEADER, AND (INSET) VERIGIN

By NEA Service

NELSON, B. C.—Peter Verigin, leader of Canada's Doukhobor colonies, rests in a vault blasted in the rock of a mountain that towers above the principal village.

Five thousand followers carried his body there.

He was regarded by the Doukhobors as divinely sent to lead them. Under his guidance their wealth increased to $5,000,000. They owned sawmills, great farms, several factories.

Verigin, born in Russia, spent 15 years in Siberian exile before he was allowed to come to Canada at the request of the Canadian government, Count Tolstoi and the American Society of Friends. He was killed by a mysterious explosion on board a railroad train.

ISSUE OF LAND BANK BONDS PLACED ON SALE

Syndicate Offers $1,000,000 Denver Joint Stock Land Bank 5 Percent Farm Loan Bonds

A banking syndicate, composed of L. F. Rothschild & Co., New York; The Guardian Savings & Trust Co., Cleveland, and West & Co., Philadelphia, is offering for public subscription $1,000,000 Denver Joint Stock Land Bank 5 percent Farm Loan Bonds dated July 1 and Dec. 1, 1924, due July 1 and Dec. 1, 1954.

These bonds, which are redeemable at par and interest on any interest date after ten years from date of issue, are the obligation of the Denver Joint Stock Land Bank and are collaterally secured by first mortgages on farm property. The Bank operates in the states of Colorado and Wyoming and it is the policy of the Bank to restrict its loans to selected sections of the territory in which it operates.

According to the official statement of the Bank as of Oct. 31, 1924, the first mortgages on farm lands amounted to $6,447,484, against property conservatively appraised at $18,200,000. There are $6,357,000 of bonds authorized and issued; the Bank had a capital of $430,000 and the liability of the shareholder is double the amount of stock. There is a surplus of $30,907. The average amount loaned per acre is officially reported to be about $16.40 which is but 35½ percent of the appraised value of the property.

The Bank is under private ownership and management and its operations are restricted and supervised by the Government. The management consists of men who have had broad experience and who are thoroughly familiar with general conditions and land values in the territory in which the Bank operates.

The bonds are offered at 102 and interest, yielding 4.75 percent to optional date and 5 percent thereafter. The Act under which these bonds are issued provides that: "The income derived from Farm Loan Bonds issued under the provision of this Act shall be exempt from Federal, State, municipal and local taxation."

LONG DROUGHT FINALLY BROKEN

The drought which has been causing considerable worry to the farmers was effectually broken on Saturday night and Sunday morning when there was quite a heavy fall of rain which took out what little frost there was in the ground and did much good. The rain was proceeded by some sharp showers on Saturday morning, but the real fall was during the night and early morning. There has been upwards of 40 days of drought, the longest in the history of the weather bureau.

The drought is broken. Ice men and farmers are correspondingly happy, and they could stand a few more inches of rain before the ground is closed for the season.

TREES DAMAGED BY LIVE WIRES

Wires that became grounded on trees caused considerable excitement on Middle street Saturday evening and resulted in a hurried call for the trouble men of the Power Company and a still alarm to the Central Station. The wires were on trees at the corner of Highland street where it was blazing up so as to light up that section, for the ground put out all of the street lights. Considerable damage was done to the tree before the Power Company's linemen were able to break the ground. They then were called to the corner of Porter and Middle street where there was a similar condition.

The skating surface on the two ponds at the Pines has been flooded by the heavy rain and with cold weather there will be skating in a day or two.

PLAY OPENING GAME WEDNESDAY

The Portsmouth Collegiates basket ball team will play its first game on Wednesday at Laconia and Manager Phil Irish will have the following line up: Anderson center and captain, Eastman and Cotton forwards, O'Leary and Timmons guards.

There is a proposition to form a professional league which would take in Portsmouth, Dover, Sanford and possibly Portland or Rochester. The matter is under consideration and it may be brought about. The local team will play its opening game in this city on Dec. 3 at Freeman's hall when it meets the Dover team.

AT LAFAYETTE SCHOOL

The Lafayette school was open to visitors the entire week. The regular weekly program was carried out and the work exhibited. In each room various topics relating to education were discussed. The relation between home and school was emphasized on Wednesday evening by a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association.

The teachers of the Cabot Street school invited the parents to visit the school during Education Week. In the third and fourth grades the children talked about the meaning of each day. The children are very thrifty and have saved $300 this year. This is a great deal for only 125 pupils.

In the Junior High school the pupils talked about Education Week every morning. At the assembly yesterday afternoon Mr. Beal gave a short talk on this subject.

The sixth grade in the New Franklin school made posters for Education Week. Many of these were exhibited in th store windows. Nov. 19 was visitors' day and many parents saw the everyday work done in the school. During the week 94 visitors were present. A Thanksgiving program was given by the Literary club of the 7th grade. During the program radiopticon views of Plymouth and the Pilgrims were shown. Some of the pupils gave piano solos and recitations which the visitors enjoyed very much.

At the Farragut school the pupils made posters and every morning talked about the value of education. On Wednesday the parents visited the school and were delighted with the way in which their children were being trained.

But one more week of football. There will be several big games on Thanksgiving day and a few on Saturday including the Army and Navy classic.

RAILROAD NOTES

Will Help Potato

A ruling made by the N. Y. N. H. & H. system will greatly benefit the potato growers of Maine. This ruling will allow shipping of potatoes to Providence, R. I., and to New Haven, Conn., for reconsignment to points on the New Haven railroad and beyond. This affects all points of the Maine Central, Bangor and Aroostook, and Canadian lines. Potato growers in this state have been trying to obtain a ruling of this kind for a long time and it is believed it means better marketing.

The regular reconsignment rates apply $6.30 per car, free demurrage for 24 hours and regular car service after that period.

Yard Man Injured

Byron B. Scott, employed in the Maine Central yards in Bangor had his left foot badly crushed by being caught by the wheels of a train. He was taken to the Eastern Maine General hospital where it was stated Friday night that hopes of saving the injured foot were entertained.

The Motor Bus Business

The Boston and Maine is going into the motor bus and motor truck business through an auxiliary company. It seems as if the company could be the pioneer in a new method of transportation if it can successfully join the motor truck to the railroad resources. —Newburyport News.

Boston & Maine Can Sell Branch Line

The Maine Public Utilities Commission on Saturday issued an order authorizing the Boston and Maine railroad to sell the Old Orchard Transportation Company the Old Orchard branch which was called for in a recent petition of the Boston & Maine.

The branch runs 3.83 miles from a point on the main line of the Boston & Main railroad at Old Orchard to Camp Ellis in Saco, all in York county.

The commission points out in its order that at the time the petition was filed, the petitioner had filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington an application for a certificate permitting the abandonment of this portion of its line, which petition has since been granted. The petition was granted on the showing that the branch was being operated with serious financial loss.

The Public Utilities Commission further states that under these circumstances the public interest would not be adversely affected by the proposed sale, and the petitioner ought to receive the consent of this commission to sell this property which will no longer be necessary in the service of the public.

To Continue Present Service

Vice President Dalrymple of the Canadian National Railway has notified the people of Berlin and other places on the line between Portland and Berlin that the company has decided to continue the present Sunday service on the Grand Trunk between the points named. There is some dissatisfaction over this service, which gives but two trains a day. A mass meeting was recently called at which towns all along the road were represented and it was decided that the Grand Trunk could not accede to the requests for better service they would appeal to the InterState Commerce Commission.

LACK PLACE FOR BASKETBALL AT NAVY YARD

The enlisted men of the Marine barracks, Naval Hospital and the Submarines will be hard hit for a place to play basket ball this winter at the navy yard. The old reading room hall has been fitted with permanent benches and basket ball will no longer be allowed.

This cuts out the men from their only winter sport and the heads of these departments along with Captain Owens, the captain of the yard, are looking the yard over for a possible place where all of these three teams can practice basket ball. The sail loft is the best place in view now and this would make an ideal hall allowing a lot of room for practice and room for spectators for their home games. Basket ball has been one of the strong sports of the marines and the Naval Hospital and also the submarine crews are keen on the game and it is hoped that some kind of a place can be provided.

William H. McKenney, a veteran of the Civil War, died last week in Dexter, Me., at the age of 78 years. During the Civil War he served in Co. G of the 31st Maine Infantry. The surviving relatives are two sons, James McKenney of Dexter, Me., and W. L. McKenney of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Annie Aiken of this city; a brother, Lewis McKenney of Boston, and a sister, Mrs. Adeline Tucker also of Boston also survive.

25 YEARS AS RECTOR

Rev. John Fearnley, rector of St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, N. J., and who for a number of years has conducted the services at St. Peter's Episcopal church, York Cliffs, Me., will complete his twenty-five years as rector of St. Mary's Hall at the coming commencement next June. Mrs. Fearnley will also attain her twenty-fifth year as principal of St. Mary's. On Founder's Day, May 27, 1925, the Alumnae of the school will gather there as a mark of appreciation and affection for Rev. and Mrs. Fearnley. The great improvement in the school properties, the increase of pupils, the large number of graduates, and the warm affection which has bound pupils and teachers to Rev. and Mrs. Fearnley are some of the evidences of their success in this, the oldest girls' school of the Episcopal church in the United States and the trustees have accepted their coming resignation with sincere regret.

The board of trustees, facing the problem of the change of administration and management, after careful consideration of the whole situation, have secured to take charge of St. Mary's Hall, the Sisters of the Transfiguration, of whom the present Bishop of New Jersey has been Chaplain General from the founding of the Order. The Sisters have conducted with marked success not only the Home and School for Girls in Glendale, Ohio, but also for some time the Priory School in Honolulu and St. Lioba's School for Girls in the City Wuhu, China. They have assigned as the Sister in charge and also as the principal of St. Mary's Hall, Sister Edith Constance, who has been for ten years the successful head of St. Lioba's School.

Rev. Mr. Fearnley is well known at York and vicinity and will continue to conduct the services at St. Peter's church, York Cliffs [illegible] year, probably beginning earlier in the season than in times past.

DETROIT WOMAN RECOVERS

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks."—Mrs. HAMERINK, 3755 25th Street, Detroit, Michigan.

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pains and nervousness, or any feminine disorder, bear in mind that the Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Alcohol Production

Alcohol production in this dry country goes on more rapidly than ever. Last year there were 68,000,000 gallons of alcohol produced legally, in addition to the illegal production. Most of it went for purposes to which no exception can be taken. Much did not.

About 27,000,000 gallons were distributed as denatured alcohol, for commercial use. But an officer of the Internal Revenue Department estimates that 1,000,000 gallons of this were diverted to make illegal drinks, of the lowest and most injurious form. Perhaps 30,000,000 gallons went to make perfume, toilet goods and other mixtures manufactured under bond. Of this amount, there may have been diverted to beverage use 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 gallons. There were 10,000,000 gallons classified as for use in drug stores, in medicines and flavoring extracts; and of this amount it is estimated that 500,000 gallons or more were diverted to make forbidden liquor.

Altogether it is said that 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 gallons were used illegally, enough to make nearly 50,000,000 quarts of whisky. This needless to say is too much. The big leaks should be stopped.

Trans-Atlantic Air Service

Aerial passenger service between America and Europe, operated by the United States government, is a possibility soon. Already the navy department is considering plans for putting the ZR-3, the German built Zeppelin, into the trans-Atlantic service as a test to determine the advisability of permanent establishment of such cross-ocean commercial service.

Secretary Wilbur has disclosed that the department is discussing the suggestion that the latest acquisition to the American aerial fleet be sent across with a full American crew to demonstrate her ability as a freight and passenger transport. Under the terms of agreement with the World War allies by which this country obtained the Zeppelin it cannot be used for military purposes, but must be devoted purely to commercial pursuits.

The Shenandoah, in its trans-continental flight and the ZR-3 in its trans-Atlantic flight have already demonstrated that the idea is practical and requires only to be adapted to the needs of passenger and freight service.

Making Church Dominant

In Cape Girdeau, Me., persons of every religious faith have united in a movement to make the church dominant. A fund subscribed by business and professional citizens maintains three illuminated signs and systematic newspaper advertising during the year. Each church also advertises separately.

The newcomer is greeted with this sign opposite the union station: "Cape Girardeau—a city of churches, schools and substantial business institutions, where the home is paramount and where the church is the foundation of the community life."

This is a common movement. Toleration and not division is the need of the churches. A sincere unified effort to expand and extend the practice as well as the profession of religion must certainly meet with success, as is already reported to be the case in Cape Girardeau.

Barbers Boycott

Rudolph Valentino has returned from Europe bringing with him a beard. Well, what of it? Hasn't Mr. Valentino a right to grow a beard if he so desires?

"No!" shout the barbers in reverberating chorus.

The Associated Master Barbers have adopted a resolution that its members be pledged not to attend a showing of his photoplays as long as he remains bewhiskered.

Nobless oblige.

So the barbers say to H. R. H. Mr. Valentino, "Your whiskers work a great hardship on us, your loyal subjects. Now all men, seeing you with a beard, may go and do likewise. If the world grows whiskers and abandons its daily shave, what will become of our wives and children? Shall they starve because in your vanity you have grown a beard?

Castles For Sale

Not castles in Spain, but castles in Germany. They have become a drug on the market. The government has a for sale sign on any number of them and no bidders. It is hoped that rich foreigners may be attracted to them and buy them.

Meaning rich Americans, no doubt. Rich Americans have a naive way of spending a few millions for such trifles just to satisfy some childish dream that was never realized and which their growing riches now allow them to fulfill.

Mary Pike, teacher of the Golden Rule School, Franklin, N. H., has a record not easily beaten. For forty-three years she has taught school and in that time has never lost a day on account of illness.

MARRIED IN CHRIST CHURCH

Miss Florence O. Shuttlesworth Becomes Bride of Maurice G. Fitz

The marriage of Miss Florence Olivia Shuttlesworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shuttlesworth, and Maurice Gale Fitz, also of this city, took place on Saturday noon at Christ church, the rector, Rev. Charles leV. Brine, performing the ceremony. Plans had been previously made to have a larger wedding, but owing to serious illness in the bride's family the wedding was a very quiet affair.

Both bride and groom have hosts of friends. The bride is a member of Christ church and active in that parish. The groom is employed as a machinist on the navy yard. They will make their home at Atlantic Heights.

NEWS OF THE NAVY AND NAVY YARDS

Goes Good on Speed Trials

The light cruiser Cincinnati on Thursday practically completed her experimental trials on the Rockland course. Rear Admiral G. H. Burrage, president of the Board of Inspection and Survey, commented upon the Cincinnati's work as "a splendid triumph of the naval architect's art."

Five standardization trials were held, embracing 70 runs from nine-knot to full speed. The maximum speed was 33.96. An average of the top speed runs at 33.40. Going at her top burst of speed the cruiser's propellors were turning 385 times per minute and 99,000 horsepower was being developed.

On the four-hour full power run, with the ship's displacement at 8,400 tons, the Cincinnati made her best half-hour at the rate of 33.59 knots and developed 98,652 horsepower. A few fuel economy tests remain to be made.

Members of Committee

Rear Admiral and Mrs. L. R. de Steiguer are members of the committee for the annual Army and Navy ball to be given at the Copley-Plaza, Boston, on Friday evening, Dec. 5.

OUTLAWING WAR

Theme of Address by Professor Hudson at North Sunday Evening

A large audience heard Prof. Manley O. Hudson at the North church on Sunday evening who spoke on the "Recent Progress Toward Outlawing War." Mr. Hudson is Bemis professor of International Law at Harvard University and serves every summer as a member of the secretariat of the League of Nations.

He discussed the subject in a masterly way, his professional work and his inside experience with the League of Nations giving him unusual qualifications for discussing the subject, and he had the closest attention of his hearers to the very end of his address. That so much has already been done by the League of Nations toward outlawing war was heard with interest by lal and the facts were explained in a clear way by the speaker.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN BEVERLY

Mrs. Julia A. McClure, 79, widow of the late James McClure, and a former resident of this city, died early today at her home in Beverly following a lingering illness. Mrs. McClure was a woman much admired by her many acquaintances in Portmouth and Beverly. She left this city over 12 years ago and made her home since in the Massachusetts city. The nearest surviving relative is a grandson, Thomas Stewart of Beverly. Her funeral will be held at Beverly on Wednesday morning and the remains brought to this city for interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

RYE NEWS

Rye, Nov. 24.—The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Second Christian church held its day evening, Mrs. Emma Sargent, president of the society, presiding. The meeting opened with a praise service, followed by the devotional, led by Mrs. Margaret Burnham. Mrs. Spinney and Mrs. Wendell of Rye sweetly sang two duets. A Thanksgiving story was impressively read by Miss May Brown. A pleasing exercise was well given by Miss Louise Sargent and Mrs. Mabel Burnham's Sunday school class. Miss Dora Dunning finely read "The Rope Holder." The small barrels given out a year ago were opened and the offering amounted to $25. The service closed with the benediction.

The Center Primary school of Rye is planning an interesting entertainment for Tuesday evening in the Rye Town Hall. A little play will be given, entitled "Bobby Brewster's Rooster" and home cooked food and fancy work will be on sale.

THE HERALD HEARS

That in the Red Cross drive at Concord all inmates of the State Prison became members and gave considerable money for the cause.

That only three widows of former Presidents are still living: Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, N. Y., Mrs. Woodrow Wilson in Washington, Mrs. Thomas Preston Jr., widow of Grover Clerveland at Princeton, N. J.

That the All Star Biddeford bowling team want a return game with Portsmouth in this city on Thanksgiving day.

That the municipal campaign is opening wider every day in Dover.

That an out of town concern is trying to arrange to put on an indoor circus in Portsmouth.

That so far the concern has not met with much success.

That one or more local organizations have declined to take up the project.

That a large delegation of Boston and Maine railroad men attended the funeral of the late Conductor Gilman Marston at Newburyport on Saturday.

That the Portsmouth Ward 3 recount took place at Concord today.

That the third sprinkling of snow arrived in Portsmouth today.

That the West End bowling fans can't seem to dig up a team in that section to take up the challenge of the City Five.

That quite a bit of building moving is on the way on Water street.

That a few new candidates for mayor are now said to be ready to go into the battle.

That the present indications are that the Republican mayoralty primary will be a session of much activity.

1000 DANCERS LIMIT FOR TOMORROW NITE

Never in Portsmouth's history has it been necessary to stop the sale of tickets at a dance hall because of a capacity house, but such is bound to be the case with Mal Hallett's Orchestra at Freeman's Hall tomorrow night, and the sale will positively stop at the thousandth admission.

Newburyport, Haverhill, and Amesbury alone will send down 250 dancers (186 tickets were already sold in these cities Saturday night), Salem, Beverly Lawrence, Exeter, Newmarket, Manchester, Dover, Somersworth, Rochester, Sanford, Biddeford, So. Berwick, all know that this is the biggest attraction booked in New Hampshire this year. The local management are in touch with all of these towns and know that they will furnish at least 400 dancers for this attraction. This orchestra is "turning them away" in nearly every city where they have played, and Portsmouth dancers are advised to come early if they wish to hear "the greatest orchestra that has ever played the New England states. Your admission will be cheerfully refunded if this band is not exactly as advertised. "The last word in dance music."

SEND WORKMEN FROM THIS CITY

All the men of the B. & M. bridge crews who have been working in this city and at Dover Point, have been ordered to report for work as soon as possible at Berlin and other places on the White Mountain division where the rivers have caused so much trouble and damage since Saturday. Boarding cars and considerable equipment were also sent.

POLICE COURT

Gladys Cates and Edna Hurley charged with disorderly conduct were ordered to serve 4 months in the house of correction today and to pay costs of $5.82.

The case of a man charged with reckless driving was continued until Wednesday.

WOMEN SIGN AN AGREEMENT IN THE JONES WILL

They Will Now Receive About $1000 a Year—One a Former Resident of This City

The money left to Miss Addie Corbett, formerly of this city, now of Lynn, and Miss Nellie E. Walker, also of Lynn, by the late U. K. Jones, shoe manufacturer, seems to have dwindled considerably according to the latest reports on the matter. The Misses Corbett and Walker were for years his bookkeepers and rendered him much assistance during his illness. They still stand as the chief beneficiaries under his will on the records at the Salem court. However, this will created quite a stir when it became known that the son of the shoe manufacturer had been cut off with $10,000, while gifts of $5000 apiece and the old home at 520 Essex street, Lynn, has been given outright to the Misses Corbett and Walker, with the additional income from $50,000, and on the death of the deceased's 80-year-old brother, one-half of the income from the residue of the estate valued at $50,000.

A contest over the will was begun by the son, Harry E. Jones on the issue of undue and fraudulent influences but this issue was discharged on the arrival of an agreement between Mr. Jones, the son, and the women.

Sherman L. Whipple of Boston, entered the case for the son, and after many things were brought to light, and after many more things were on the point of being brought forth, it was decided to probate the will as it stood, but to substitute a few changes in an agreement.

This agreement dissipates for the two principal beneficiaries their dreams of travel, amusement and philanthropy, while it opens up a rosy future for the only son. By the agreement the actual yearly income of Misses Corbett and Walker is approximately $1000 a year.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM BIDDEFORD BY 6 TO 0 SCORE

Local Players Put Up Brilliant Game and Easily Outplay Maine Rivals

Portsmouth High school closed its football season on Saturday by outplaying and defeating the strong Biddeford High team, the final score being 6 to 0, although it does not tell the great advantage that the locals had over the visiting team.

There was a large crowd present including a large number of royal rooters from Biddeford who had confidently expected to see their team roll up a good score on Portsmouth, and while they were disappointed they considered themselves fortunate to get away with such a small score.

Portsmouth did not get any of the breaks in the official decisions and, while it is not our custom to question the decisions of the officials, it looked as though the headlinesman was doing his level best to help Biddeford. In the second period Biddeford was down on its 15-yard line and attempted to punt out. The kicker was slow and Clark plunged through the line, blocked the punt and caught the ball and was downed on the Biddeford five-yard line, with another touchdown almost sure. The linesman promptly declared a Portsmouth player off side and the ball was given back to Biddeford and they were also given five yards. Again in the third period when Portsmouth by fine rushes by Fullham and Noel carried the ball down within striking distance on the 10-yard line the same official called an off side penalty of five yards and when this did not appear enough called another for holding 15 yards more, taking the team back out of danger.

The Portsmouth boys played a great game. They played with heads up all the time and on the slippery field handled the ball well. They were superior to Biddeford on both offense and defense and every member of the team was going good. Coach Rice, for the first time for several games, was able to start all his regulars with the exception of Simpson, and while some of them had to retire, they played great ball while they were in.

Portsmouth scored in the first few minutes of play. Getting the ball on Biddeford's 30-yard line on a punt outside Fullham and Noel in two rushes drove through for ten yards each and they were on the 10-yard line. Here Biddeford put up a good defense and Fullham shot a pass over the line to Casey, back of the goal line, but they failed to pick the goal.

On other occasions they were within striking distance when penalties were imposed that brought them back out of scoring distance. In the second period they had Biddeford down on their [illegible]-yard line and the blocking of the punt and recovery of the ball was one of the feature plays of the game but, as stated above, the linesman refused to allow it.

Early in the game, Captain Robinson was injured and J. Clark took his place. Robinson came back in the second half but had to retire again before the game was over, but Clark proved a fine substitute.

The individual star of the game was Fullham, who played quarter. He not only ran his team like a veteran but made some very brilliant runs and was a tower of strength on the defense. The entire backfield was working smoothly. McCann showed some of his old-time form, Noel played a great game and McCarthy at half put up a good game on defense and offense as well. Mullane was also very much in evidence and has a most promising future in football.

Kirvan played his usual reliable game. His passing was perfect and he is a great defense player and ranks as one of the best centers the school has had for years. Both Ferrini and Robinson played fine ball, Ferrini being especially good on defense and several times threw the visiting backfield for loss. Coach Rice used four guards. Wiggin and Hatch started and Hett relieved Wiggin and Pridham relieved Hatch and they all went well. Casey played the entire game at left and wnt fine. The other end, Voudy, was playing a brilliant game until he was injured. Flanigan took his place and was conspicuous on the defense, his tackling being especially noticeable for he hit them hard.

The entire team on Saturday gave an illustration of what they are capable of and it would have taken a strong aggregation to have scored on them.

They have been very unfortunate in injuries and at least three men were out on Saturday, Glman with a broken ankle, Harriman with a broken toe and Simpson with his bad knee.

Following the game the girls, and they are a bunch of royal rooters, started a snake dance which extended up through the business section and they grouped on Market Square and gave all their cheers. It was a fine example of school spirit.

CALL OFF ROCHESTER WEDDING

Groom to be a Portsmouth Man With Quite a Record and Married

A dispatch from Rochester says:...

"A wedding at Holy Rosary Church announced for Monday, has been called off because it has been learned here that Henry Nault of Portsmouth, the prospective groom, was a married man. The bride-to-be is Miss Yvonne Jacques of Chestnut street, daughter of Joseph Jacques.

"Nault figured here as a man of means, but went away owing a board bill, a local firm for a valuable overcoat, and a resident for a watch. He carried with him two gold rings belonging to Miss Jacques.

A Lawrence, Mass., clergyman, who had lost on a cash loan to Nault, wrote to Rochester giving information that he was married."

Nault, whose parents live on Albany street, this city, is well known to the local police. He came into prominence with them during the war when he was arrested as a deserter from Camp Devens and was returned to that military post and court martialed. Later he was married in Burlington and the police claim that he served time in jail there.

Some time ago the local police were after him for the larceny of a railroad pass which he was using to travel about the country. At that time he was with his wife on Albany street, but is understood to have made good his getaway. His wife followed soon after, and as far as the police know he has not been back here.

OBSEQUIES

Mrs. Arabella D. Furbish

The funeral of Mrs. Arabella Dearborn Furbish was held Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. William Denton, pastor of the Advent church, conducted the service at the home, No. 78 Dennett street, at 2 o'clock and the committal at the grave.

Arthur Hersey, Chester Hersey, Charles Merrill and Thomas Sheehan were the pall bearers. The interment was in the family lot in Greenwood cemetery Eliot under the direction of J. Verne Wood.

John Green

The funeral of John Green was held from the home, No. 222 Court street at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. Nelson Kellogg, rector of St. John's church conducting the services.

The bearers were Joseph Fernald, John R. Fernald, Sherman B. Fernald and John B. Renner, the interment taking place in the family lot in Harmony Grove cemetery under the direction of J. Verne Wood.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Barrett Wendell of Boston and this city is a member of the committee for the annual Army and Navy ball to be held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, Boston, on Dec. 5.

W. O. Cleary, clerk at the Boston and Maine roundhouse, has returned to duty after a vacation of ten days.

William E. Carter left today for Dora, Fla., where he will remain until the first of next April.

Norman H. Young is passing a few days in Boston.

E. Curtis Matthews Jr. and Mrs. Matthews have been attending the Bankers meeting in Boston.

Miss Alice M. Craig is passing her vacation in Washington and Philadelphia.

Mrs. James Pettigrew and daughter, Blanche, passed the week end with relatives in Chicopee, Mass.

The Misses Elizabeth Robinson of Thornton street and Olga Feraini of Brewster street passed the week end with friends in Dover.

BLUE TRIANGLE NOTES

The clubs at the "Y" are finding this week the real meaning of the word "service" and are trying to put into practice the following:

"Not what we give but what we share,
For the gift without the giver is bare."

The following clubs will meet Tuesday to arrange their Thanksgiving baskets: T. M. T. M. club Merrymakers and Betsy Ross. The girls may bring in their "goodies" any time Tuesday. By giving these baskets they hope to bring gladness and happiness to those who are less fortunate than they.

Over 60 girls and women are reporting every Wednesday for a physical education program in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Anyone may register in any of the classes at any time. There are groups for all ages.

Saturday morning there will be a hike for all groups of Junior High and High school girls, whether the girls are in the gymnasium classes or not. The girls will start from the "Y" at 10 o'clock and each girl will bring her own lunch and something to cook.

GIRLS

Shortly the business firms, organizations, etc., of this city will be asked to select a young lady to represent them in the contest for the most popular girl in the city. The young lady who collects the most votes, which will be sold for a cent each, will be chosen as "The Golden Butterfly" of "Bimbo" and will receive a $25 gold piece. If we do not reach your firm and you wish to enter a contestant phone 148-M.

A NEW STREET

Portsmouth will sshortly see the opening of a new street, starting at the intersection of Porter and Middle streets, and running thence in a northerly direction. Although necessarily short it has been named Main street because of the number of important shops which will be located there, to say nothing of the postoffice, bank and the theatre. A walk through this street will be well worth while and the Japanese Tea Garden will be a charming place in which to meet friends and chat with them over a cup of tea.

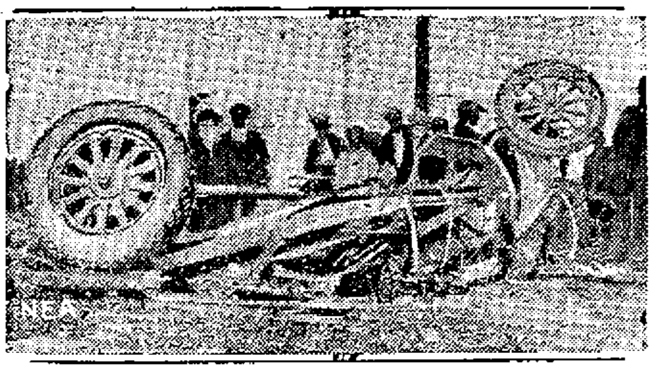
11 Died at This Crossing



Eleven of 15 persons on board a bus operating between Newport News and Hampton Va., were killed when the machine was rammed by a fast train on a grade crossing between the two cities. The other four were seriously injured. A state law compels all drivers of motor vehicles to stop on approaching a crossing not guarded by a watchman. Witnesses say the bus chauffeur did not.

Even a Prince Must Dress to Impress

Columns have been devoted to the Prince of Wales and his journey to America—and much of the space has been given over to a description of the Prince's dress. Wales is noted for his taste, for his wardrobe, for his immaculate appearance.

Even Edward Albert Christian George Patrick David, Earl ofChester, Duke of Cornwall, Earl of Carrick, etc Son of King George V and Prince of Wales, gives constant heed to his appearance. He knows that popularity is invaluable to a ruler, and—indeed to any man. Even a prince must dress to impress the world.

Consider that—and consider yourself. Compare!

The Prince IS! He has arrived. He tops the social and economic world. Yet, he dresses to his station. How about you? Have you arrived? Will you top your world of society and finance? Or are you standing on the lower rungs complaining a bit perhaps at your trials and troubles?

Inventory yourself. Ask yourself: "Am I dressed properly? Does my garb fit me to the lowest or the highest rung of the ladder?

Surely you cannot expect others to place you at the top if you fit yourself for the bottom by the dress you wear.

A man's dress is a plain statement of his personal opinion of himself. Wise men know that the first rule is

King of Italy inspecting ruins of Avvezzano

IS Italy entering the road that leads to industrial greatness, to economic power, to leadership in the world of business?

Or is she unwittingly turning her footsteps into a path that will inevitably lead to the world's most hideous tragedy, not even excepting the Titanic, the Lusitania and the San Francisco quake?

Only time can answer those questions.

The fact is, however, that Italy has definitely expressed herself as wanting to be another New York City to the extent at least of having a skyline second in grandeur to none.

The announcement has been made that Rome is to have a skyscraper that will make the Woolworth Building in New York look, in comparison, like a bungalow.

MODERN BABEL

It will be 1109 feet high and will be called the "Mole Littoria." The Woolworth Building is only 792 feet high. The new Italian building will have 4500 rooms, a concert hall, gymnasiums and training space for sports of all kinds.

But this building will be but a starter. Once the Italians take a look at their wonder-building, one may rest assured plans for others like it will soon be started. And then, in time, Rome will be remade and its skyline will rise.

And with the coming of the new day Italy's reawakened industrial pride will flourish and prosperity will come—UNLESS—

The news item reproduced on this page is but one of many of its kind that filters through the cables to this country. Italy's earthquakes are becoming frequent enough to be dismissed with four or five lines in newspapers.

What would happen should a good sized quake visit that land of many quakes after Italy's skyline is a fact?

SOLID ROCK UNDER N. Y.

The question often has been asked in this country with reference to New York's Woolworth Building and other towering buildings of which Manhattan is justly famous. What would happen?

New York is known to be built on solid rock. Some say there is a fissure through the solid mass. Should the earth slip, New York will witness another Messina and Reggio. This eventually is considered unlikely by those who understand the American metropolis' foundation. But in Italy's case it is different. There is a precedent established in that country and it is an ominous one.

* * *

WHO can forget Messina and Reggio?

From Christmas until Twelfth Night is a period of joyous feasting among southern Italians. People come into the towns from surrounding farms and there is much merrymaking. The days following the Christmas of 1908 were no exceptions.

Thus it was that on Sunday night, Dec. 27, 1908, the cities of Messina and Reggio and other towns in southern Italy on both sides of the Straits of Messina were filled with people who made merry into the late hours. Then they went to bed with smiles on their faces, little thinking they were slumbering for the last time in cities that were doomed.

Early Monday morning, shortly after 5 o'clock and before the sun had begun to show itself, there came a crash so terrible, so fierce, so destructive that it killed 75,000 persons outright and injured 100,000 more.

The late F. Marion Crawford, writing at the time for The Outlook, had this to say about that awful catastrophe:

"A southwest wind was blowing and the sky was black when the fatal moment came, but it was not yet raining. Those who were awake and survived remember hearing the horrible subterranean thunder that preceded the shock and might have been a warning to many in waking hours; it seemed to begin far away and approach very quickly, swelling to a terrific roar just before the crash. Another instant and the solid earth rose and fell in long waves, twice, three times, four times perhaps, and the houses and churches swayed from side to side, in the darkness; for the young moon had set before midnight, and it lacked more than an hour of dawn. The whole city and the towns on both sides of the Straits fell at once with a crash that no language can describe; then followed that long-resounding rumble of avalanches of masonry; and when those awful moments were over nearly 200,000 human beings were dead or injured.

MOUNTAIN OF WATER

"Almost at the same moment another sound was heard, almost more terrible than the first—the sound of a moving mountain of water; for the sea had risen bodily in a monstrous wave and was sweeping over the harbor, carrying away hundreds of tons of masonry from the outer pier, tearing ships and iron steamers from their moorings like mere skiffs and hurling them against the ruins of the great Palazzata that was built along the semi-circular quay, only to sweep them back, keel upwards and full of dead and dying men, as the hill of water sank down and ebbed away. When it had quite subsided, the inner portion of the harbor was half full of sand and mud and stranded wrecks.

"Those who say they saw these things are either untruthful, or else, in vivid recollection of sensation, but without true memory of events, they confuse what they heard and felt with what they might have felt and seen; for though some of the gaslights on the streets continued to burn for a few minutes, the darkness was almost total."

Equally horrible, yet vivid, was the description sent back to this country in the official report of the American vice consul at Messina, Stuart K. Lupton:

"I had not proceeded more than 50 yards when I found myself walking in water up to my knees in a place which should have been eight feet above water level. Next I came to a pile of rubbish some fifteen or twenty feet high over which I clambered on my hands and knees. By this time I began to see that the affair was much more serious than I had at first believed, but I was still in inky darkness, so I could not form any idea of the extent of the disaster.

ONLY A TEAPOT

"After three-quarters of an hour I arrived where I supposed the consulate to be, but could see nothing that reminded me of it. Half the water-front appeared to be down. Here and there the walls were standing while the interior had collapsed. A few fires were breaking out, but owing to the solid construction of the town they made little progress.

"At the place I supposed the consulate to be I found nothing but a heap of ruins, iron beams, splintered wood, bricks and stones in hapless confusion. I was not sure of the spot and climbed over the ruins to see if I could find anything familiar.

"Finally I came across a battered teapot, which I recognized as the property of Mrs. Cheney, and remembering the spot where it had stood, was able to get my bearings. I climbed directly over the spot where their rooms had been, and called, in the hope that if they were still alive, they would answer. I heard nothing, however, and further search revealed a piano covered to a depth of about 10 feet in rubbish. I knew the Cheneys had no piano so it must have come down from one of the upper stories. As the shock was so strong that no one could stand, and the consulate went down almost immediately, it was absolutely an impossibility for Dr. Cheney to have opened four doors and gone down a long flight of steps which had three sections. Nothing belonging to the office could be seen except the teapot. . . .

SOME NAKED

"People were beginning to appear by this time, some half clothed, others entirely naked. I gave part of my clothing away, but found I could do nothing, there were so many. People were calling from upper windows, asking that someone should aid them, but ladders and ropes were necessary, and they had to be left. Some men were trying to lower an old lady from the fourth floor, but as soon as the weight came upon the cord, it broke, precipitating the poor soul to the pavement below. Another upper window was choked with rubbish through which stuck a man's arm. He was unable to call out, but rattled against the railing with a stick, trying to attract attention. Without men and tools it was impossible to do anything, so I kept on, trying to shut my ears.

"Almost all the natives were hysterical, shrieking and moaning. Some were held by their friends, as they seemed to be absolute maniacs. . . . Light shocks were felt every few minutes, adding to the alarm of the people."

An eye-witness writes:

"From all directions, by all communities and governments, relief to the stricken cities, for the rescue, feeding and shelter or removal of the survivors, was hastened with the greatest possible speed.

"Warships from many navies, Italian, French, Russian, British and German, were quickly at the scene, their sailors and marines performing heroic work in discovering and saving many still living people, who had been entombed under mountains of ruins for many days.

"Even after such burial for 13 and 14 days some victims were found alive. Rescuing forces were soon in excess of the need, and a want of systematic organization and direction among them became a subject of complaint. But the outflow of sympathy and eager generosity of helpful desire in all the world was the noblest, without doubt, that has ever been called forth.

"By good fortune, when news of the disaster came, the supply ship of the U. S. navy was being laden at New York with a million and a half of rations, destined for the fleet of American battleships then voyaging around the world.

"The supply ship was to meet the fleet at Gibraltar, but orders were given immediately to dispatch it to Messina, with an added shipment of tents, clothing, blankets and medical supplies. Furthermore, when the fleet itself, which was about to enter the Suez Canal, a storeship was hastened forward to Messina for such offerings as it could make. The American Congress, reassembled on the 4th of January, after the Christmas recess, by action of both houses that day appropriated $500,000 for further relief of the Italian need.

"A suburb of 1500 detached frame houses, of two or four rooms, were built at Messina; 500 were constructed at Reggio and the remainder at other towns and villages.

"The Italian Parliament appropriated 30,000,000 lira or $5,000,000 for immediate relief and for the reconstruction of the ruined cities. The plans formed by the Italian government included measures to provide for the temporary protection of the orphaned young, the deserted and the insane.

"To the effective help and relief rendered by her Mediterranean squadron, Great Britain added large contributions of money, mainly collected as a 'Mansion House Fund' by the lord mayor of London. There and everywhere the Red Cross societies were instant in the field and untiring."

All of this is mentioned merely to show what confusion accompanies an earthquake of any proportions.

ANOTHER QUAKE

But let us go on and see what else happened to Italy:

"During the six months following the great catastrophe, Messina had been so far rebuilt and reoccupied as to have acquired a population of more than 25,000.

"To them on the evening of June 30 and the morning of July 1 came once more the dread quaking of their unstable portion of the earth. The shocks described in dispatches were similar to the fatal disturbances of December and were accompanied by the same roaring noises. The people fled with cries of terror. They hurried to the open places of the city and surrounding country, praying to the saints that their lives be spared.

"So far as is known, however, only a few people were hurt, and this undoubtedly is due to the fact that the city was only partially rebuilt. Had the walls of all the houses been standing the loss of life would have been heavy."

These scenes have been repeated in Italy from time to time. In 1915 central Italy was visited by a quake that took a toll of 30,000 lives.

It would seem at first judgment that such a geological condition would preclude the possibility of a skyscraper skyline. But under its new birth of semi-democracy, Italy thinks she can do it, and that in the success of such a venture lies the future prosperity of the country.

No one can foretell the result.

It is noticeable that all countries, or rather sections visited by earthquakes, are completely free of high buildings.

In Japan, where more quakes occur than in any other country on earth, there are no skyscrapers, nor are there likely ever any to be, despite the density of population and the huge commerce carried on by the Japanese.

New York City never has been visited by a quake, to the best of anyone's recollection. There is a solid rock foundation for the city. Recently someone has commenced circulating a story, which has not proved founded in fact, that a fissure runs through the rock-bed of the metropolis.

Should this prove true and should the rock slip through any subterranean tremblings, dire things will happen. But those who are investing their money in New York real estate feel sure they will not wake up some fine morning and find it out in the Atlantic Ocean.

And as the people of New York refuse to become alarmed, so does the new spirit of Italy refuse to heed warnings of the past. They plan to make Rome the New York of Europe. In time it will have a skyline second to none. Here will be the center of the world's wheel of finance, of the world's sports, of European drama. And it will come to pass—unless one of those pesky Italian earthquakes come along and spoil things.

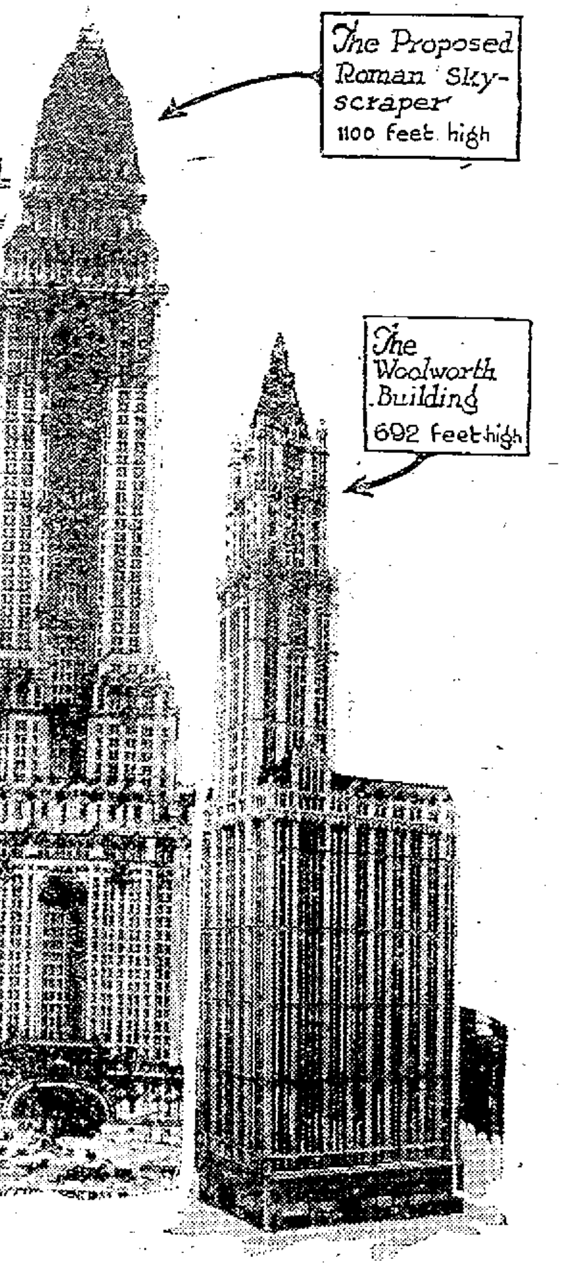
SWAYS IN THE WIND

All skyscrapers are built with a certain amount of "give" or "sway." The Woolworth Building can sway several inches with entire safety.

Unquestionably the proposed super-skyscraper for Italy will be built to accommodate such a "give." The higher the building the greater the sway. Perhaps this fact alone will save the building on many occasions of slight quakes.



The Proposed Roman Skyscraper 1100 feet high
The Woolworth Building 692 feet high

RaiseSalvation Army Needs More Contributions to Raise Funds for Holiday Dinners

For a number of days the Salvation Army workers have been stationed on the streets in the interests of the annual Thanksgiving effort, when a number of worthy families will be supplied with a little remembrance given by the public spirited people of Portsmouth and vicinity. It is surprising to know that those who have done their part and others that are helping to make this possible comes from the unexpected, giving from their menial salary and dropping in their coins, anxious to help the Salvation Army and stating cases where people are in need. The ticket system will be used and only the real worthy cases will be cared for, as the officers are doing their own investigating. There are many who ahe well able to contribute who eeem to give little thought to this worthy appeal. Why not think of those who would have little Thanksgiving cheer unless we help them.

To interest the public as to the wager put on by Jack Hanlon and Bill Ford of Portsmouth in the election bet, the amount collected realized as $21.50, for the 3 days grinding. A statement given to Captain Miners by Mr. Hanlon follows: Fred Gray for use of machine, $15.50, Mr. McCue for use of horse, $3.00, and the Salvation Army $3.00, a total of $21.50.

MY GRANDMOTHER'S SCHOOL

(By Elizabeth Gowen)

In 1855 people did not need a High school education unless they were going to specialize in certain subjects or were seeking a profession, which women very seldom did. They were taught reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic and sometimes Latin. They were drilled especially in arithmetic. The instructors sometimes were not qualified for their positions, their chief aim being discipline. The high schools were small in cities smaller than Boston, which made it hard, because the pupils could not have so many subjects to select from.

Today the whole nation is interested in education. We have certain laws regarding it. In 1855 the teachers taught what they themselves thought best: we have state programs, so that each teacher in the state will be teaching the same and covering the same work. In 1855 it was not compulsory to go to school, others who had ambition and whose parents were interested in their education went. Nowadays every boy and girl in the United States is compelled to go to school, unless on account of serious illness.

We take reading, writing and spelling in the first eight grades. In high school we may take different subjects, the classical course, which includes mathematics, English, Latin and French. French is a more modern language. Science is another modern subject which is very useful to us in this age of scientific invention and discovery. The world has advanced to a point where it will be hard to live unless we can read and write the English language. Women are beginning professional careers instead of working in the home.

OUR SCHOOL LIBRARY

(By E. Randall)

The library at the Portsmouth High school was founded by James T. Fields. Mr. Fields went to the old High school, which is now City Hall. The library is situated on the second floor, a place that is convenient for all of the pupils. In the library there is about twenty-four hundred books. Among them are World Books, histories, books of English literature, and a graduating class a few years ago gave a set of "Books of Knowledge" volumes. Most of the books are given by classes at their graduation and some of the classes donate a sum of money. This money is kept till enough is got together to buy new books.

In the Library are four large tables with many chairs around them. On the walls are pictures of Longfellow, Lowell and Whittier. There are also pictures of President Washington and President Lincoln. There are many bookcases and shelves filled with books. During the day about one hundred pupils come to the library to look up work. Many pupils are turned away because there is not room for the large number that wish to go to the library. Each pupil is allowed to take a book for a period of two weeks. When he takes a book out he has to sign a slipfo r it. There are two and three copies of many books.

A TRIP TO HAMPTON

(By Joseph Schwartz)

At 6.30 p. m. the High School orchestra was ready to start for Hampton. The automobile I was to ride in belonged to Carlo Lanzilli. It took half of the orchestra (including the director) to crank it, as it was a "Henry" sedan. We followed Mr. Bilbruck's car all the way and got into Hampton in a half-hour. The first thing on the program was supper. After that the work began. The aditorium was filled with spectators. We played about two hours; then, with the "Stars and Stripes Forever" we ended our concert.

We expected to have trouble in cranking our car, but it started with the first crank. Woodbury Adams, who had ridiculed us for having to crank our Ford, took a turn at cranking his own Ford. We passed Mr. Tolman's car on the way and arrived in Portsmouth at 10.40. Woodbury used to boast of knowing the way to Hampton, but he lost his way in the fog and arrived home at 12.00, midnight.

ELECTION AT PORTSMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

(By Mildred Adell)

There was great enthusiasm among us all when it was announced that we were also to have an election. The purpose of this was to give us an idea as to what to do and how to mark our ballots when we were old enough to go to the polls to vote, as many ballots every year remain uncounted on account of incorrect marking.

The assembly hall was arranged to present the appearance of a regular voting place. The seniors acted as officers.

On going into the hall we seated ourselves until we were informed as to our turn to vote by one of the officers. We were then given a ballot. The next thing, we gave our name to the supervisor of the check list. She checked our name and called out, "checked." We next proceeded to the booths to mark our ballot. The booths were made of heavy paper of some sort. There were nine booths. After marking our ballot carefully we put it in the box. Before putting our ballot in the box our names were again chcked.

The result of the election compared with that of the National election with an overwhelming majority for Coolidge and Dawes, for President and Vice President. John Winant, Republican candidate for governor of New Hampshire carried the majority in the school election and state election. The votes for President in the school were, Coolidge 404, Davis 137 and LaFollette 49.

RED MAGIC

The New York Sunday World's new section "Red Magic," edited by Houdini, the popular escape-king, is continuing successfully. Its baffling tricks, perplexing puzzles, curious illusions and interesting tests are becoming more and more popular to young and old alike. The thrill that comes once in a lifetime is felt when one satisfactorily works out the answer to one of these problems. The edition is limited. Order next Sunday World in advance.

HERE AND THERE

Canada contains one-third of the area of the British Empire.

It was in 1565 that the first black lead pencil was sharpened.

The greatest depth at which gold has yet been excavated from the earth is 4200 feet (about three-fourths of a mile), at the New Chums mine in Australia.

The red snow occasionally noticed in the Alps bordering on the Mediterranean is believed to owe its color to the presence of minute particles of Sahara sand blown across by gales.

Sunday Island, in the Pacific, is really the tallest mountain in the world. It rises 2000 feet out of five miles of water and is thus nearly 30,000 feet.

Back to Shoes

J. M. Haigler—the "barefooted man from Oklahoma"—is going back to shoes. After leaving his feet bare winter as well as summer for most of his life, Haigler, now 82 years old, has decided to change his habit. He and his sons own 13 square miles of land in Oklahoma.

A son was recently born to Mr. and Mrs. John Wiseman of New York City, formerly of Portsmouth.

Chats with your GAS man

THANKSGIVING DAY is one of the busiest days in the year for us. It is like Christmas, New Year's Day and the other splendid holidays when family reunions are held, and when the palate is tickled by good things to eat cooked at home.

On these days the consumpton of gas begins to rise immediately after breakfast is over and during the noon and evening hours it jumps up rapidly, a new record generally being made each year.

To anticipate these huge demands—to build up a starage supply of gas which will enable the housewife to cook the turkey properly and prepare the other delicacies—that is the responsibility placed on the gas man.

Can you remember any time when he has failed to make good?

WHY I GO TO HIGH SCHOOL

(By Basil Meserve)

My first thought is the laws of our government makes it compulsory to go to school until one is sixteen years of age. This is a fine thing as it enables every one to get a certain amount of education. My second thought is my parents expect me to go. My third and most important, I like to study and want to go to college.

High school prepares one for college. An education is very necessary in these enlightened times of science and industry. A man without an education is like a ship without a sail. Drifting along from day to-day, never making any great achievements and getting nowhere in particular. Although there are a few exceptions as in the case of Abraham Lincoln who was a self made man. How many of today, under the same circumstances, would do as he did? Besides an ignorant man is often the laughing stock of his friends. We are very thankful to be passing into a time when such a condition will cease to exist. High school helps a person to face the world. It givse one light on many subjects. Helping him choose a course that in after years will be beneficial in deciding his career. For instance, if for some reason or other a fellow cannot go to college there is a Mechanical Arts Course which at least would help him decide what he would like to do to earn a living." Then there are the languages which are beneficial in all walks of life. Many girls wish to be teachers. High school helps prepare them for this important duty. Others who wish to be housekeepers can take the Domestic Arts Course which is a great help. Last but not least there is the business course for all those who wish to enter the business world.

THE ISLES OF SHOALS

(By Ruth Hassett)

I have always been interested in the Isles of Shoals, for I live in the summer time directly opposite them. Their appearance changes with the day. On a rainy day they are barely visible, melting into the horizon like a gray cloud a little darker than the rest. On a bright sunny day they appear in different shapes: sometimes they look as if they were up in the air with the sky between them and the water. At other times they resemble boats and castles and everything imaginable when the mirages play upon them. They are seen best late in the afternoon when the sun strikes them, making the windows of all the houses look like fiery red diamonds.

Their history is very interesting, hundreds of years ago they were discovered by Captain John Smith of Pocahontas fame. Later fishing colonies were established there and a busy little town grew up called Gosport. The town burned down many years ago and was never rebuilt. Now the Shoals, once so prosperous, are bleak and bare and unoccupied except for the summer people and life-saving station.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

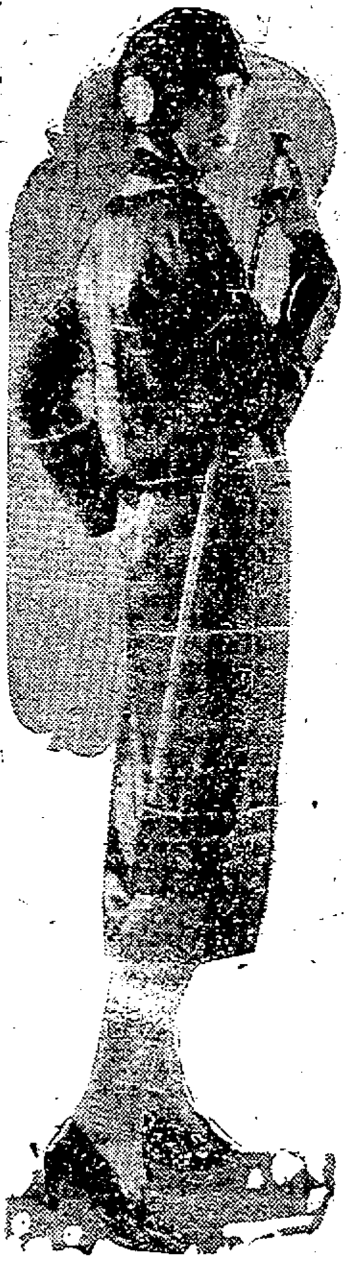
A Striking Costume



A STRIKING combination of plaid and plain material is the secret of this costume's success. The front is absolutely plain. The plaid material is blue with overchecks of gray chenille. The plain portion is blue satin. The hat is most interesting, with its wide chin strap and studied plainness.

NOW AND THEN

(By Louise Grant)

"Please may I pass the water?"

This sounds queer, doesn't it? But it didn't when our parents were children. It was heard daily in all the schools because they did their exercises and work on slates, an attic relic to us. The water was passed in a bottle whose stopper was filled with holes. It was considered a great privilege and honor to carry this bottle around and to sprinkle a few drops on each child's slate. Then he or she would take a small piece of cloth, sometimes attached to the slate, and erase all marks.

Another thing unknown to us was their type of desks. Instead of every one's having a separate desk and chair of his own there was one large desk and one large chair for two children.

I am quite certain that those whose conduct is considered good today would have received the lowest mark possible. Whispering was thought a base crime and if one dared to speak out loud the punishment they would receive is inconceivable.

Children in general today consider aprons as fit only for their elders but in those days no girl went to school without her apron. Not only the pupils but the teacher too wore her neat apron.

The books, paper when occasionally needed, slates, pencils and notebooks were supplied by the parents. Nothing was furnished by the school except the instruction. The subjects were about the same. From almost the first, spelling was assigned daily to be learned at home. One difficult and disagreeable task, we are thankfully spared today, was the learning of many rules in arithmetic, grammar, and other subjects. On the whole, I would rather go to school today than then.*

Mothers, Do This—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief. It does not blister.

As first aid, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

SALISBURY POLICE CHIEF RESIGNS

H. F. Congdon to Serve Jail Sentence on Charge of Complicity in Rum Running

Salisbury, Mass., Nov. 24—Harold F. Congdon has tendered his resignation as selectman and chief of police to Everett R. George, chairman of the board. It was accepted and became effective today.

Former Chief Congdon will appear before the Federal court in Boston today to receive a sentence in the rum-running conspiracy cases in which he pleaded nolo. Judge Lowell has announced that his sentence would be four months in jail and the ex-chief expects to serve the time in Salem jail.

The resignation materially clears the situation, as for some time Congdon had said he would not resign. His present action probably means that a special town meeting will be held for the purpose of electing his successor and the threatened probability of the government of the town from jail will be averted.

Nothing was heard from Ruel S. Getchel, who also is implicated in the rum-runing conspiracy and who also began serving a three months jail sentence today, as announced by Judge Lowell. Selectman George also is involved in the conspiracy, but his case has not yet been heard.

RESULTS OF THE BIG GAMES

Yale, defeating Harvard in a driving rainstorm at New Haven Saturday by 19 to 6, won the "Big Three' championship, having conquered Princeton last week.

Syracuse gained revenge on an old rival for last year's set-back by vanquishing Colgate, 7 to 3. Bucknell triumpbed over the hitherto unbeaten Rutgers eleven on Franklin Field by 12 to 7, while in a battle of two Pennsylvania rivals, Lafayette won from Lehigh, 7 to 0.

In the Western Conference Chicago, although playing a scoreless tie with Wisconsin, captured the championship, having been unbeaten by a Conference team. Notre Dame beat Northwestern, 13 to 6, and Vanderbilt vanquished Minnesota, 16 to 0. Michigan lost to Iowa, 9 to 2 ,and Illinois defeated Ohio State, 7 to 6.

Speaking of Puppies—

Well, here's a new football distinction. Freshman Gary of Minnesota claims to have the biggest pair of dogs, which is campus Latin for feet, in the entire football world. Gary wears a size 14, E width. When Gary picks his immense bow-wows up and lays them down the resultant clatter is strongly reminiscent of fire horses responding to a three-alarm blaze.

Mrs. George T. Stevenson who has made Kittery her home for several years, left on Sunday morning for Highland, N. Y., to make her future home.

Regular services were held at the Second M. E. church on Sunday. The pastor preached a fine Thanksgiving sermon upon the subject "The Everlasting Goodness of God." Mr. Sprague was soloist at this service. The evening service at 7.30 was very interesting. After a short and interesting talk on "Enforcing Prohibition" Mr. Robinson gave a fine review of the book Adam Beede, written by George Eliot. At the close of the service a group of young ladies dramatized the hymn "O Zion Haste," sung by Mrs. Fred Rounds. This was very impressive and added much to the spirit of the evening. The orchestra played two splendid selections at this service.

The first in the series of special gospel meetings will be held in the Second Christian church this evening at 7.30 o'clock. This will be preceded by a meeting for prayer at 7 o'clock. The pastor will be assisted in these meetings by Rev. Lester C. Holmes, pastor of the Dover Baptist church. The subject of Mr. Holmes' sermon tonight will be "Burning Truths for Christ's Church." Mr. Holmes is one of the progressive young men of the ministry, and is an able and interesting preacher of the Gospel. Mr. Ernest Cook of Portsmouth will be the soloist this evening. All the people of the community are invited to these services, and we earnestly solicit the cooperation of all who are interested in the moral and spiritual betterment of our town.

Rev. M. H. Turner, who has been spending a week in town, supplying the pupit of the First Christian church as a candidate for that pastorate, returned to Blaine today.

Mrs. Amos Amee of the Isles of Shoals returned there today after two days at her home here.

J. Marti and E. Shapleigh were visitors at Bald Head Cliff on Sunday.

The Ladies Sewing Circle of the Congregational church will meet at the Community House on Tuesday for an all day session.

A Thanksgiving service will be held at the Community House at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. There will be a short talk and singing. The pastor will have charge.

There was a large attendance at the evening service at the Congregational church several men from the University of New Hampshire having charge of the service. Beside the speaking the young men gave a number of musical selections. The service was very interesting.

The Pythian Sisters will hold a masquerade dance at Wentworth hall, Kittery, next Wednesday evening.

The Ladies Aid society of the Baptist church will hold their Christmas sale and entertainment on Wednesday evening, Dec. 10.

Christian Church Notes

The morning and evening services Sunday were conducted by Rev. Mark H. Turner of Blaine. Mr. Turner is a native of and a lifelong resident of this state . Of a quiet and unassuming mien he has a pleasing personality, has been a lifelong student of the Bible and had an interesting manner of telling the story of the Cross. He has made many friends this week while in town.

The Christian Endeavor prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Glawson Tuesday evening.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the parsonage all day next Friday and a full attendance is requested.

The Woman's Missionary society will have charge of the evening service next Sunday. A fine missionary thankoffering program has been prepared. Special music will be given and you are invited to be present.

The Christian church, through its official board, has called Rev. M. H. Turner of Blaine to this pastorate and he will begin his pastoral duties here Dec. 7.

Supt. of Schools W. H. Slayton has been confined to his residence with the grippe.

MORRILL—NEWTON

The wedding of Miss Phyllis Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton A. Newton of Dover, and Willis A. Morrill of North Berwick took place on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Dover. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David A. Pearson, pastor of St. Thomas Episcopal church. The bride's sister, Miss Berenice Newton, was bridesmaid, and Fred Sprague of Malden, Mass., was best man.

After the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Morrill will reside in Portsmouth, where the groom is employed by the Boston and Maine Railroad as a switchman at Noble's Island.

The Right Lamp in Every Socket

The right kind of lamps are Mazda tungsten and nitrogen lamps. Sizes are determined by the number of watts consumed per hour. For example a 40 watt lamp consumes 40 watts of electricity per hour and will consume 1000 watts or 1 kilowatt in 25 hours' burning.

Lamp display in our office will help you determine proper size lamp for your needs.

CITY ELECTION DRAWING NEAR

Mayor Dexter Unopposed for Democratic Nomination—Several Republicans Mentioned

This is the last week for the candidates for both parties in the city election to decide whether or not they are going to enter the primaries. Announcement has been made by the Democratic and Republican city committees that the primaries will be held within a few days.

It seems to be certain that Mayor Orel Dexter will be unopposed as the candidate of the Democratic party and it is conceeded that former Councilman William E. Dowdell and Ira A. Newick will enter the field. Friends of Former Councilman Harry E. Philbrook have been urging him for the use of his name. There is also heard the name of Capt. William H. White [illegible]

FOR THE NEEDY

Help the Salvation Army Give Thanksgiving Cheer

With three more days to go the officers of the Salvation Army are anxious to raise the amount of $122 to clear the expense of material ordered for the Thanksgiving baskets which will be given out on Wednesday at 3 o'clock. The material needed has already been ordered from the local merchants in the city such as pork, chicken, potatoes, onions, turnip, butter, sugar, milk, beans, soup, tea, macaroni, corn, molasses, bread, pies, candy, oranges and nuts. Each basket will be averaged according to the family and those who have been investigated and given tickets please report to the headquarters between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock. Those who have not yet helped to aid the Salvation Army in this humanitarian work please don't delay as help is needed to do the good cheer work.

MAL HALLETT
CALLED BACK TO BROADWAY

The Arcadia, Broadway's newest ball room costing $2,500,000, wired Mal Hallett last Friday, offering him one of the biggest salaries ever paid to a musical organization if he would return to Broadway. (This proves, without any exaggeration, that this is one of the greatest bands in America today.) Mr. Hallett cannot go back to Broadway now on account of his N. E. engagements, but he plans to take the band back about New Years. This will probably be the only appearance of this sensational band in New Hampshire this season. The press and public of Boston, and every other city where they have appeared, claim that this is the best band which ever appeared in N. E. If any Portsmouth dancer does not find this band to be exactly as advertised, they will have their money cheerfully refunded.

E. M. Fisher has been on a weeks gunning trip down in Maine.

UNION SERVICE

Dr. Lake to Preach the Thanksgiving Sermon

A union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Middle Street Baptist church on Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. E. M. Lake, D. D., will preach the Thanksgiving sermon his topic being, "The Hand of God in American History."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah W. Treat

Mrs. Sarah Willard Treat, widow of John S. Treat, passed away Sunday evening at the home of Miss Eliza A. Foss at Trefethen's corner, Rye, after a lingering illness. She was a native of Rye but resided the greater part of her life in this city where her husband was engaged in the marble and granite business.

Mrs. Treat was the daughter of Charles B. and Mary Yeaton Odiorne and is survived by two brothers, Frank and Samuel Odiorne. She was highly respected and endeared herself to all who knew her. Much sympathy is felt for the family as this is the second loss in a very brief space of time, the only other sister, Mrs. Augustus Ham, having passed away at her home in this city two weeks ago.

Services will be held at the home of Miss Foss in Rye at one forty-five o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Friends invited.

CHRISTMAS SALE

Miss Mary E. B. Miller will hold a sale of hand decorated articles and small paintings in the vestry of the Universalist church, Pleasant St., on Tuesday, Dec. 2 from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

NOTICE

There will be a special meeting of Constitution Circle No. 294 C. of F. of A. this evening at 7.30 o'clock, Moose Hall, to take action on the death of Companion Elizabeth Canty.

FIRST REHEARSAL TONIGHT

The first rehearsal of "Bimbo" the DeMolay play which will be presented in Portsmouth Theatre on Dec. 11 and 12 will be held this evening in U. V. U. hall. The director has arrived, the parts have been selected and everything is ready for a real start.

FINE LECTURE

"The Star of Progress," a stereopticon lecture was given at the Universalist church Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock and was very interesting. There was appropriate music by the church choir and chorus, with organ and violin obligatoes.
